

BELoved

Rediscovering Dignity, Chastity, and Courtship

The desire to be cherished and loved is etched into the heart of every woman. She wants to know that she is worth more than her looks and even her abilities. But will she ever realize how beautiful she truly is? Where in the world will she find the Heart that is willing to pursue her and offer himself wholly to her? How will she know when it is a relationship that will last 'til death do us part?

All are welcome to hear this message of hope – one that will inspire and encourage women once again to BE LOVED.
